DOVE SUPPLY PLENTIFUL FOR SEASON OPENING THURSDAY MORNING

A plentiful supply of doves in the lowlands and an exceptional crop in the foothills indicates a successful opening tomorrow for the 1938 dove season, the state fish and game division said Wednesday.

Game wardens have reported a favorable year for breeding and nesting and the prospect for good hunting is enhanced by what seems to be an unusually large hatch.

ASSEMBLY RESULT IS UNCERTAIN

Placerville Man Carries
El Dorado And Amador
Counties In Both Parties

The question mark hovering over the race for nomination to be Assemblyman from the Sixth District may not be erased for several days, since it may be some time before returns are gathered from the far-flung corners of the ten-county district.

John A. Raffetto, Jr., of Placerville, carried his home county and also Amador County for both party nominations.

The vote in El Dorado County was:

Republican

RAILROAD HISTORICAL SOCIETY MEMBERS EXPRESS THANKS

Letters of thanks from members of the California-Nevada Railroad Historical Society, expressing their appreciation for the reception accorded the society on its visit to El Dorado County on August 21, continue to arrive.

According to Wallace M. Ripley, secretary of the chamber of commerce, which assisted in the entertainment of the society, letters are still coming to the organization and to Mr. Berry, of the Michigan-California Lumber Company and to C. G. Price of the California Door Company, expressing appreciation for the reception.

In addition, Ripley said, a number of those who assisted in the reception by providing cars to transport the visitors from Placerville to Camino and return, are receiving individual letters from members of the society expressing their appreciation and thanks.

EARL WARREN, candidate for Attorney General and complimented with a heavy vote in both major party tickets in El Dorado County, won the Republican nomination in Tuesday's primaries. He will be opposed on the Democratic ticket by Keeley, who has espoused the $30 every Thursday pension plan.

Returns from 7076 out of the state's 12,438 precincts gave Downey 166,170 votes, McAdoo's 154,522. Republican senatorial nomination: Bancroft 123,234; Riley 105,414; Louise Ward Watkins 14,293.

In the gubernatorial race 7082 precincts showed:

District Attorney Earl Warren of Alameda county, won the republican nomination for attorney general. Carl Kegley, Los Angeles attorney espousing the $30 pension plan, appeared as likely winner of the democratic nomination.

They report that the club has been meeting at Merryman's but will henceforth meet at Motor City.

According to E. T. Benney, the change in meeting place was made necessary by the decision of Mr. and Mrs. Merryman against renting their hall for private parties.

6 FRUIT CO-OPS IN STATE SUED

Actions Filed To Enforce Collection Of Levy Made
For Advertising Pears

SACRAMENTO, 30.—Six lawsuits, the outcome of which may have a far-reaching effect on the marketing of California agricultural products, were filed in Sacramento court yesterday by the people of the State of California.

The defendants, California Fruit Exchange and five organizations for which it acts as sales agents, Earl Fruit Co., Colfax Fruit Growers Association, Auburn Fruit Exchange, Newdale Fruit Growers Association and Shasta Valley Fruit Growers Association, are charged with failure to pay Bartlett pear advertising assessments to the Department of Agriculture, Assessment of three cents per box to provide funds for the 1938 advertising and sales promotion program.

Authority for the assessments is provided by the California Marketing Act under which the fresh Bartlett pear growers and packers last year voted to cooperate in a five-year advertising and sales promotion program aimed to increase consumption of the fruit and secure a fairer return and better living conditions for growers.

According to R. W. Gray, manager of the California fresh Bartlett pear advisory board, the six suits just filed are not considered by the board to be "test suits," but are aimed at enforcing collections of the already impounded advertising funds from the six defendants. "It is the announced plan of the advisory board to carry forward the Growers' five-year advertising program and to institute any legal action necessary to carry out the marketing order authorized by the director of agriculture. The advertising and dealer service work which was outlined to the growers earlier in the year is continuing in eastern and California markets.

Many eastern jobbers and retailers have reported on the favorable effect of this campaign in spite of the difficult general situation," stated Gray in releasing this announcement for the advisory.

According to unofficial reports from Georgetown, Mrs. Amy Horn Drysdale and George A. French are the two leading candidates in the race to be Justice of the Peace. Returns on the election were not available at this writing.

WATER DISTRICT MEETING OFF

Board Cancels Conference
Scheduled Thursday Night
To Study Project Further

The scheduled meeting of the taxpayers of El Dorado Irrigation District on Thursday night at the high school auditorium has been postponed without date.

Attorney Thomas Maul, who announced the board's decision to postpone the meeting said that the members of the board desire to make a further study of the proposition.

It was not understood that this meant that there was any doubt in the minds of board members concerning the proposition they have in mind. Rather, it was understood to mean that the board desires additional time to gather data on the plan in response to suggestions made to Chairman Dr. W. A. Rantz, Secretary-Manager Fred N. Hosking and Attorney Maul in their conferences the fore part of the week at San Francisco with PWA officials.

The call for the meeting had been issued in post card notices mailed last weekend to taxpayers of the district and the publicity attendant upon the meeting was based on receipt of one of these notices at this office.

Post card notices calling attention to the postponement of the meeting are also being mailed to the district taxpayers.

Breedlove Wins At Georgetown

RECORD REGISTRATION AT HIGH SCHOOL IS INDICATED

Registration of pupils at the county high school classes beginning on September 6 opened Wednesday morning and will continue through Thursday and Friday.

Up to 2:45 o'clock this afternoon a total of 186 had enrolled and officials expected that a total of 200 would be enrolled by 4 o'clock. It was pointed out that if this average number of enrollment is continued through Thursday and Friday, the school will be more severely overcrowded than ever.

Principal B. E. Larson said cards were sent to 536 known students notifying them of the registration period and suggesting that approximately one third of them register each day.

"If the opening day registration represents one third of our total, then we are going to have about 600 pupils this year," Mr. Larson pointed out.

Included in the 536 to whom cards were sent was the entire eighth grade class of last June and, on the basis of previous years, it was said there will be some "shrinkage" in this phase of the enrollment.

PARADE OF SPORTS

By HENRY McLEMORE
(United Press Staff Writer)

NEW YORK, 4P — News item from Washington, D. C.; Jack Johnson, former heavyweight champion, is boasting to friends here that he could give Joe Louis a whale of a fight for four or five rounds. Johnson is 61.

Last night I dreamed that this fight took place, and that I was at the ringside seeing a blow-by-blow description. It was held in Madison Square Garden Bowl before a crowd of 2,500 composed of Johnson's relatives who had been summoned to the ring-side by his family physician when papers for the fight were signed, and the man who had sold Jack his life insurance.

Wearing a shawl about his shoulders Johnson was brought down the aisle in a wheel chair and helped into the ring by two of his grandchildren who were to serve as his seconds. Out of respect to his age all the spectators stood until he was comfortably seated in his corner.

Louis came in on tiptoe so as not to disturb the now dozing Johnson. Jack Blackburn, Louis' trainer, distributed pamphlets to the working press. They bore this caption:

"How I slaughtered Jack Johnson—by Joe Louis, for automatic release in morning newspapers the instant Johnson hits the floor."

General John J. Pielan, chairman of the boxing commission, told reporters he had refused Johnson permission to wear his ear trumpet during the fight.

Summoned to the center of the ring for final instructions, Johnson slipped off his shawl revealing that he had a giant red cross painted on his back. Beneath the cross was the word "non-combatant." His seconds explained that it was hoped the sign would prevent the brown bomber from bombing in that area.

When the bell rang Johnson cupped a hand to his right ear and said "Eh?"

The referee, a venerable gentleman who once fathered an old-age pension plan, patiently explained to Johnson that the bell had sounded and that the fight was on.

Louis walked from his corner reading a copy of the revised statutes of the state of New York. Deeply interested in Section B, article E, dealing with the penalty for man-slaughter, Joe paid no attention when Johnson threw the first punch of the fight—a secret one he had perfected in training camp and known as the "hardened artery up-purcut." It landed squarely and savagely on Joe's lay back, causing a pain to turn.

The power of this punch caused book makers in the ring-side quickly to reduce the odds on Johnson from 22,000 to 1 to 21,500,000 to 1.

Encouraged, Johnson hobbled in close and beat the book from Joe's hands with a terrific two-handed attack.

"Kill 'em, Grandpa, kill 'em," Johnson's grand-children screamed from the balcony.

Annoyed by having his book redely knocked to the floor, Louis walked over to the reporter at the ringside and in a quiet voice said:

"Remember that paper Blackburn gave you all? Well, you can let it go now."

Then he walked over to Johnson's corner and asked if all of Jack's papers were in order. On getting an affirmative answer Louis let Jack have a left hook and a full right, and then surrendered himself to the sheriff.

Up and Down Broadway

By JACK GAYER
United Press Staff Writer

NEW YORK, 40% — The theater is going to take another searching glance at itself next month. The American Theater Council will hold its second convention in sixteen months for the purpose of making the Council a year-around organization to direct the varied and sometimes warring interests of this fantastic business into the channels of cooperation.

Sept. 13 and 14 are the dates for the second convention. The first was held in May, 1937. During its four days there was a lot of talk and some slight accomplishment. One of the most tangible results was an arrangement whereby aspiring young actors could get together and rehearse plays under professional direction for presentation to managers and producers, who might thus hope to discover acting talent previously hidden. Numerous such tryouts were given and, if no Cornells of Lunts were discovered, they at least were not without their value. Another proposition, to offer subsidies to potential playwrights, doesn't seem to have borne any fruit.

There will be three sessions of business, two luncheons and a gala supper this year, all at the Hotel Astor and open to anyone interested in the theater who has $7.50 to spend in furtherance of that interest.

While the agenda has not been officially drawn, it is expected the convention will be concerned primarily with putting the Council on a permanent basis so it can act as spokesman for all theater groups—including labor unions—in such matters as legislation, relations of the theater with the public, etc.

There is a definite place in the theatrical business for such an organization. There have been too many instances in the past of various factions cutting each other's throats instead of getting together to fight any common enemy. The producers and managers have an organization and there are the various unions for the dramatists, the actors, stagehands, scenic designers and whatnot. There have been times when they pulled against each other simply out of pure human contrariness to the detriment of the theater as a whole.

One of the most interesting experiments which will be seen early this coming season is John Golden's revival of the famous play "Lightnin'," which was the record run play of its day and will attempt a new lease on life almost twenty years to a day after its Broadway premiere on August 26, 1918.

"Lightnin'" was the play, you will remember, in which the beloved Frank Bacon came to his greatest glory. He was co-author with Winchell Smith and played the leading role. It ran here for 1,291 performances, establishing a long run record which lasted until "Abie's Irish Rose" hung up its 2,532-performance mark about 10 years later. Since then "Tobacco Road" has passed the "Lightnin'" record, giving its 2,000th performance two weeks ago, and threatens now to surpass the mark of "Abie."

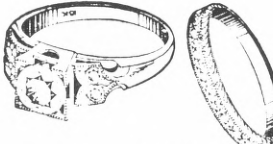

Frank Bacon is no longer here to resume the role he made famous; in fact none of the original cast will be in the revival. Golden, who produced the play originally, is the only connecting link. Fred Stone, the dancer-comedian whose fame is as great as that of anyone in the American theater, will essay the role of Lightnin' Bill Jones. He should be well worked into the part by next month's Broadway opening because he has been appearing in the trunks of the revival at several summer theaters in recent weeks.

A lot of drama has flowed across Times Square since the original "Lightnin'." It will be interesting to watch the fate of this homely little play in a streamlined world.

SPECIAL STAGE FARES TO SACRAMENTO FOR STATE FAIR

Beginning the first day of the State Fair the Pierce Arrow Lines will feature a special excursion rate between Placerville and the capital city. This special low fare is $1.75 for round trip and will be in effect during the 10 days of the fair, or until September 11, according to announcement issued by Robert Neal in charge of the Placerville office.

In addition to the regular three buses daily a fourth is being added, or rather a return trip late at night, leaving Sacramento at 11:50 a. m., thus giving visitors an opportunity to see the entire night program at the State Fair grounds, including fireworks and horse shows. A complete daily time schedule of the buses in and out of Sacramento and Placerville are printed elsewhere in this issue.

The first orange tree in the Terra Bella district, Tulare County, was planted by Edward D. Halbert in 1888.

PROMPT START ON PWA PROJECTS ADVISED BY REGION HEAD

SAN FRANCISCO (Special)—Necessity for prompt and effective action to insure the starting of all 1938 Public Works Administration projects on or before next January 1st was given as the cause for the issuance today of a stern warning by PWA regional Director Kenneth A. Godwin that communities failing to get such construction under way on time would risk losing their allotments of Federal cash.

Director Godwin expressed concern over the slowness with which many public officials in this region are proceeding after being assured of PWA loans or grants. He stressed the importance of all abiding by the rules pertaining to starting dates for projects.

"Those who may be deluded into believing it will be easy to secure extensions of time are doomed to enforce the letter and the spirit of the Congressional Act which makes possible this current PWA program, a vital part of the Federal government's drive for complete business recovery throughout the nation. That Act calls for speed in getting nearly two billion dollars' worth of heavy construction under way by January 1st, and this haste is due to the necessity for getting as many unemployed men back on paying jobs at the earliest possible moment."

Mr. Godwin added that it must be borne in mind that the PWA program, as a whole is to be considered and that the creation of the maximum of employment made possible by the full amount of the appropriation is the primary purpose of the gigantic nationwide plan.

COUGARS OPEN GRID SCHEDULE SEPT. 30

Three Games In CIF League; 4 Non-League Battles Set As Brown Seeks Fifth

The Cougar football schedule for the coming season was announced this week by Coach L. A. Brown and opens on September 30 with the Cougars going against the Placer Junior College eleven.

The schedule includes three league games, against Sutter Creek, Jackson and Sonora, and four non-league games, while Coach Brown is dickering for a fifth game.

The coach thought he had the schedule filled and then Clarksburg high school asked to be relieved of an October 29 date in Placerville and efforts are being made to fill this date.

Brown has hopes of booking a game with Grant or Roseville or with the McClatchy High school, of Sacramento.

Following the September 30 game the Cougars go to Preston to play October 5 against the Preston School of Industry, and open their league season on October 15 on the home field against Sutter Creek.

On October 22, the Cougars go to Sacramento to play the Sacramento high school. The October 29 date is, for the present, open.

The Cougars play their second league game of the year on Nov. 5 at Jackson and then return to Placerville for their traditional Armistice Day game against San Juan on November 11.

The Cougars wind up the season with a league game at Sonora on November 19.

"Below the $2,500 income we find mental alertness, mental vigor and alertness," he said. "Above $2,500 there is less receptiveness; there is sluggishness, a tendency to accept things as they are."
